

ARTHUR ADLER MEMORIAL GOLF CHALLENGE

WHERE: Boca West Country Club

WHAT: Boca West Children's Foundation (BWCF) hosted its biggest Golf Challenge yet, with more than $600,000 being raised to support the organization's 36 nonprofit partners and the vital work they do for at-risk youths across Palm Beach and Broward counties. This year's tournament held special significance for BWCF, as it was the first without Arthur Adler, who founded the organization and helped establish the tournament in 2012, and passed away in November of last year. The tournament has been renamed in his honor. More than 400 golfers from various nonprofits entered the tournament, competing in foursomes to win funds from a prize pool of $100,000. Following the tournament was the ceremonial duck drop, with 600 rubber ducks dropped on the greens and the closest to the hole winning a cash prize of $2,500. The winner, Scott Boilen, generously donated the winnings back to BWCF. Sponsors included AWP Property Company, Boca magazine, Ronnie and Allen Flicker, and more.
